BICENTENNIAL

EXPO 3

"Creativity in America"

November 13, 1975

Mr. W. E. Colby, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Colby:

We can't begin to express our shock and dismay at President Ford's Sunday night action, but we cling to the hope that there is a last minute reprieve so that you'll be able to continue to serve as you have in the past. In view of the happenings, we don't know if this response to your letter of November 8 is appropriate; nonetheless here it is.

Did we mention in our previous letter that NASA will be exhibiting? And that the U.S. Postal Service and ERDA and the Patent and Trademark Office will also take space at the Inventors Bicentennial Expo 3? And more. It would be wizard to have the CIA with us too.

We have a suggestion for a CIA exhibit...if the material is not classified. The story comes to mind of the resonator that had been planted inside a gavel that was given as a gift to the American ambassador in Russia. If we could have a display of some super snoop devices that our so-called enemies use, it would be fascinating and educational to visitors. We expect some 100,000 people, so we suggest that you have someone at the Expo who can answer all sorts of questions, because there is an incredible interest and curiosity extant in the activities of the CIA.

The generous turnout of news and Tv media (which we've enjoyed previously) to cover the proceeds creates a unique forum in which governmental agencies can present their points of view to the taxpayers.

We hope you will join with us in this Expo.
